FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

The President has proclaimed October 8-14 as Fire Prevention Week. Once again the signal has been given for a renewed offensive against our remorseless enemy, uncontrolled fire. Despite the ceaseless efforts of fire prevention authorities, fire losses have doubled in nine years, reaching a total for the past year of more than $400,000,000.

In an appeal to the American people in commemoration of Fire Prevention Week, W. E. Mallalieu, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, says: "If America's wartime fire waste is to be reduced it will be necessary for every interested person to cooperate in a campaign to spread information about fire dangers. Fire losses increase because most people are not sufficiently interested, and they are not interested because they have not been informed adequately as to the seriousness of losses and hazards. Citizens who do appreciate, can perform a patriotic job by transmitting information to others and convincing them of the need for special efforts to reduce fire waste. To be specific, begin in your own home by locating all fire dangers there and eliminating them. Branching out from here, tell your neighbors about fire safety and get them to clear all fire dangers from their premises. Then contact fire prevention headquarters in your community and offer your services. Finally, make an effort to promote fire safety in your business. If nothing is being done there, be the one to initiate a safety campaign, for it is patriotic to save materials."

Let's all include fire prevention with our daily work, not just for a week or a month, but throughout the year—and let's start now.

STIFF JOB FOR GENERAL IKE

The newest assignment handed General Dwight D. Eisenhower appears to be just as monumental a task as the one engaging him now. In a recent broadcast beamed to the Reich from Supreme Allied Headquarters, Eisenhower was named chief of the military government to be established in Germany, exercising supreme legislative, judicial and executive authority and striving, as his major objective, to "destroy Nazism" in the conquered country. The proclamation declared:

"The Allied military government will begin the task of destroying National Socialism. It will remove from responsible posts all members of the Nazi party and of the SS and others who have played a leading part in the National Socialist regime."

Chief obstacle in carrying out the difficult program will be the hundreds of thousands of fanatical young Germans who know no other values than those pumped into their minds during all their lives, by their fanatical Führer.

Evidence from prisoner of war camps in the United States tends to show that these young Nazis are unregenerative under the kind of treatment they receive here as a matter of human decency, and there is concern in some quarters that once returned to Germany it is possible they may still furnish the core of a new Nazi movement that may launch a third world conflict.

Literally speaking, any true and fair conceptions of the world and their honorable course in it, has been withheld from young Germans for so long that their thinking on the subject is arrested, their minds closed to other concepts than their own. If ever their sense of human values is to be restored, a drastic remedy surely will be required.

If General Ike knows what the remedy is, he is one of the few men in the world today who do. Certainly, the responsibility for finding the cure and applying it is one of the greatest ever faced by Eisenhower or any other mortal man.

DANGEROUS SOUVENIRS

Not all souvenirs being brought back from the battlefields are harmless mementos of the war.

At the recent session of the Western Conference of Attorneys General, held in San Francisco, California's Attorney General Robert W. Kenny revealed that seven stolen machine guns recently were found in the possession of merchant marine sailors when a Liberty ship reached port. "I entertain grave fears of a post-war crime wave if many more of these weapons get in," he declared, pointing out that "seven men so armed could take over the Federal Reserve bank, since our local police are not equipped to handle this kind of crime warfare."

Remedial measures proposed by Kenny included "tightening of all departments in the search of ships and gear of men returning to port," spot welding of Japanese machine guns on piers to render them harmless, and the vigorous prosecution of men stealing GI weapons.

Sportsmen and others who have objected to restricting the possession and use of firearms certainly did not have in mind such weapons as machine guns. Nor did they intend to countenance traffic in firearms stolen from the armed forces.

Whatever measures are necessary to stop the illegal flow of such weapons into the country should be taken by either the Federal government or the various states whose ports are used for entry. California and the nation already have enough post-war problems without adding to them the materials for a major crime wave.

DOUBLE THE CARE

DOUBLE THE WEAR

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

A timely book for today, when the people of France are so rapidly being freed after four years of bondage, is "The Gravediggers of France" by Pertinax.

PERTINAX

laval. He shows exactly how, why and where disunity, weakness and treason undermined the nation's resistance.

It is a bitter and terrifying story, and we can learn much from it.

No branch of the service surpasses the Seabees in toughness and ingenuity, according to Lieutenant William Bradford Huie, author of a book about them called "Can Do!"

He tells this purely apocryphal story. On a certain Pacific island, it is said, natives were mopping up the remaining Japs. One day a group wiped out a party of Japs, but hesitated to kill a strange animal which the Japs had brought along with them. It was a goat, and after observing it closely, they returned to their chief for instructions as to whether or not to kill it. "What manner of beast is it?" the chief asked. "Oh, he's very strange, majesty," the natives replied. "He has fierce eyes, long horns, a shaggy beard, and will eat anything." "Spare him," the chief ruled at once. "Don't kill him. He's what the Americans call a Seabee."

It's a dual selection again for the Book-of-the-Month Club. For November the Club has selected "The American Character" by D. W. Brogan and Herbert Best's novel about revolutionary times, "Young Un."

Oliver Morosco never forgot the opening night of his first play, "Mme. Sans Gene," Helen M. Morosco and Leonard Paul Dugger tell us in their book, "The Oracle of Broadway." Instead of staining the seats in the theatre, the famous theatrical producer ordered them painted—with terrible consequences. Much of the paint on the chairs was picked up by the gowns and trousers of the first-nighters. Oliver not only had a hit on his hands, but what threatened to be a number of law suits besides.

There's an oar here for!

It's a lifesaving job, all right! And the lifeboat must be manned by us civilians on the home front.

There are lives of refugee Chinese and Greek children to be saved. There are lives of our own servicemen's children here at home to be sustained and cared for.

There are comfort and cheer to be given to war prisoners.

There is entertainment to be provided for our fighting men abroad through the U.S.O. Camp Shows.

All these need to be done at home and abroad by your one group, the local Community Chest.

Wollenberg To Speak At Junior College

Albert Wollenberg, San Francisco attorney and member of the state legislature, will give a lecture before the Peninsula forum at San Mateo junior college, Monday evening, October 9, as the second of the series of talks on the coming national elections. The lecturer will present the viewpoint of the Republicans. The lecture, starting at 7:30 p. m. is open to the general public.

Students at the junior college are not only getting well started in their fall classes but also are developing a strong program of war work on the side. The Red Cross workroom is getting its work underway on surgical dressings, socks, and other articles; stamps and bonds are being sold regularly, and the whole college is contributing to the War Chest drive.

Enrollment in the adult classes evenings is still in progress. Very heavy enrollment is noted in the Friday evening classes of Civil Air Patrol.

Mrs. America Meets War-Time Cooking-Buying Problems

Have you "that tired feeling?" Look like the symptoms in the patent medicine ads? When you run upstairs, do you feel run-down? Then what you need, lady, is carbohydrates—great gobs of 'em! And one of the best sources of energy-producing carbohydrates is bread and other cereals. Ah-Ah-Ah! No more of that pushing the cracked wheat at junior while you munch the melba—help yourself to a bowl of cereal and energy at the same time.

Any motorcyclists meandering around your menage? Motorcycle riders who are looking for another steed are reminded by OPA that they should investigate thoroughly the ceiling price of their favorite means of locomotion before buying. There are ceiling prices on used motorcycles—even those released by the Army.

Looks like the knife-like trouser crease is here to stay—what with Mr. America taking pride in his appearance and the War Production Board aiding and abetting him by speeding up production of new electric irons. These should be available in your retail stores in limited quantities in a short time and ranging in price from $5.30 to $11.75. Soon again Miss America can have freshly pressed pleats.

"Oh-h-h, the hambone am sweet—very, very fine . . ." And besides it's ration-free. Combining a shoulder hambone with that favorite of the South, black-eyed peas, makes a Saturday night dinner treat that will bring loud praises from your hungry men-folks and also conserve the red ration points for those extras now needed for your butter allotment.

And speaking of ham—whoever named 'em "hamburgers" intended that meat to be an integral part of said dish. If you're planning a last Indian Summer picnic, combine ham and beef for hamburgers worthy of the name—and be sure to precook the ham before combining it with the raw beef.

"An apple a day—" It's been a long time since British children could join their American cousins in that chant. But now, for the first time since 1941, the people of Britain this winter will taste fresh apples from the United States. Fresh apples will be shipped chiefly as a substitute for lend-lease allotments of dried apples which will be in short supply this season, says War Food Administration.

With fall weather and the rainy season starting, your car can be of greater convenience than ever. Get the full benefit of its use at low cost by coming here for repairs and regular service.

MEAT IS ESSENTIAL

7 GOOD REASONS FOR Meat on the Table

1. Meat for Complete Proteins.
2. Meat for B Vitamins.
3. Meat for Iron and Copper—build good, red blood.
4. Meat for Phosphorus—a dietary essential.
5. Meat for Easy Digestibility.
6. Meat for Palatability.
7. Meat for "Satiety Value"—that lasting satisfaction after the meal.

The meat rationing system was worked out to insure each family's getting a fair share of the civilian meat supply. Your government recognized the fact that meat is necessary for the health of every person in the country.

Don't neglect this important food in meal planning, simply because it may not be convenient to purchase. Spend your red points wisely, for sensible cuts of good meats. Let FARMERS' quality be your guide.
